Seen & Heard Around Murray

Reading in the Fulton Daily Leader about a preacher who had some difficulty with a typographical error in the church bulletin. He had planned to preach on "I Believe in Immortality" and it came out in the bulletin as "I Believe in Immortality". He says next time he preaches on the subject, he will call it "I believe in everlasting life".

Good luck to Mrs. Otis McDougal who has been hospitalized for the past three weeks. She got out yesterday.

Each day we become more cognizant of the need for a redefinition of the terms we use.

The word that has received the most beating in many years is the word freedom.

Apparently too many people do not understand the difference between freedom and license. Our freedom ends where yours begins. License allows us to override your freedom and trample it underfoot.

The fellow who shouts fire in the crowded theatre may claim that he is merely exercising freedom of speech. He is wrong. (Continued on Back Page)

Mr. James C. Williams, Publisher
Murray Ledger & Times
103 North 4th Street
Murray, Kentucky 42071

Dear Mr. Williams:

It is my belief that we should never become so involved with our daily responsibilities that we fail to take time to express appreciation to individuals who lend a helping hand. For a number of weeks I have planned to express a word of thanks to you and to your staff for sharing your very interesting column "Seen and Heard Around Murray" with Commissioner of Agriculture Miller and me on January 28 and the helpful stories that you have reported on our Murray State Alumni Scholarships, Distinguished Professor Award, and the Century Club, which raises funds for these projects.
We believe the stories on our alumni activities, reported by the Ledger recently, will prove helpful in our efforts to better inform the Murray State alumni and friends on our program of work. It is my desire to keep the graduates, students, and faculty of Murray State up-to-date on all Association projects and activities.
We thank you for your assistance. (Continued on Back Page)

Income Tax Questions and Answers

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q - Does it make any difference whether I file the red, white and blue tax form I get in the mail or one of the plain ones the Post Office has?

A - Either form is acceptable, but the colored form is preferable. However, if you do not file the return mailed you, please be sure to remove the name label and use of color to highlight certain sections of the form will reduce errors.

Q - Where can I hire someone to help me with my tax return?

A - Call your local accounting, legal or tax practitioner association and ask them for the names of qualified people.

In choosing an advisor, here are things to look for:

1 - avoid the man who "guarantees" you a refund

2 - be on guard, if he suggests the refund be sent to his address

3 - You should never sign a blank tax return or one that has been prepared in pencil. You are legally responsible for every item on the return even though someone else has helped you prepare it.

Your advisor should sign the return, too, indicating that he helped you with it.

Q - Are gifts ever taxed?

A - The recipient has no Federal income tax to pay but the giver may be taxed if the gift is sizable. The law generally requires a gift tax return to be filled by the donor when a gift or gifts to any one person during the year exceeds $3,000.

However, income earned on gifts is taxable to the recipient.

Q - I sold my house just before my 65th birthday. Does that mean I won't be entitled to the special benefits for the elderly on those sales?

A - The law requires you to be 65 or over before the date of sale or exchange to qualify for these special benefits.

Q - I was married last month. Since my name has changed do I have to change my Social Security number?

A - When your name changes, notify your local office of the Social Security Administration as soon as possible. Your number will not be changed, but

Mr. Nixon's Obligation

Freedom Of Choice

One of the chief reasons that many Americans in all parts of the Country voted for Richard M. Nixon last November is that they craved the nation's schools to proceed with education and no longer be plagued with political demands. In other words, many citizens wanted the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to stop threatening massive retaliation against schools, to abandon unreasonable "guidelines," and to let local schools work out their problems in a common sense way.

For great numbers of citizens who supported Mr. Nixon, the common sense way in public education is embodied in "freedom of choice" school plans under which parents decide which school their children will attend. Under such plans, no one is the victim of discrimination, but school systems are not put in the absurd position of setting quotas, each year adding a fixed number of students of a minority group. The law does not require "racial balance" in the schools, as HEW erroneously insisted in the last administration. It simply requires an absence of discrimination, and "freedom of choice" is the ultimate in fairness.

During the election campaign, Mr. Nixon espoused "freedom of choice." He gave an interview on station WBTB in Charlotte last September in the course of which he said he favored this plan, "I wouldn't want to see a your record will be corrected to reflect your married name.

Q - Who can file the short form, 1040A?

A - This form can be used in the following circumstances:

1 - Income is under $10,000; and

2 - Income consists entirely of wages subject to withholding and not more than $200 from dividends, interest, and other wages.

The Form 1040A cannot be used by taxpayers who either itemize their deductions or who claim special tax credits or deductions such as the retirement income credit, sick pay exclusion, or moving expense deduction.

Further details on filing requirements are given in the instructions that accompany both the 1040 and 1040A tax forms.

The voters took Candidate Nixon at his word on "freedom of choice." They placed their faith in his promise to uphold such school systems, if HEW now adopts a different policy, and rejects "freedom of choice," how can the public have any faith in the new administration's promises?

Indeed Mr. Nixon, on the basis of his campaign statements, has an obligation to uphold "freedom of choice."

The country also will be watch-

February Is Bad Month Says Writer

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON UPI - February says Dr. Willard E. Edwards, is "unfair to many people."

He certainly will get no argument from me on that point, indeed, I feel that Edwards is letting February off too lightly. If I were presenting the case against February, I would add several more charges to the indictment.

Among the other infractions of which February might properly be accused are loitering, bad breath and following too closely. Its chief transgression, however, is arriving at the wrong time of year.

By the time February gets here, most people are fed up with whatever it is that has been going on. They yearn for a change. But February offers no hope in that direction.

All you ever get from February is more of the same old Chicago.

Edwards, a distinguished Honolulu engineer and inventor of something called "the perpetual calendar," bases his unfairness complaint on the fact that February has only 28 days.

"Workers' paid by the hour earn considerably less in February but may have the same monthly bills to pay," he points out.

"Employers paying their people a fixed monthly salary get less work from them in February."

True enough. But for a month like February, even 28 days is too many.

Terrible Drag

Edwards may be going easy on February because he lives in Hawaii. In that state, February probably is a relatively benign month. For most Americans, however, it is a terrible drag.

The way to deal with February is not to add two more days to Control Returned

WASHINGTON UPI - The Federal Communications Commission has approved Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's request for the return of the family broadcast interests to her control. The agency said it would allow control of Stations KTBC-TV, AM and FM, Austin, Tex., to return to the former first lady from the trustees who had operated them while her husband occupied the White House.

Boating

By JACK WOLISTON

NEW YORK (UPI) — The St. Petersburg (Fla.) Yacht Club has launched an ambitious program which it hopes will establish the world's ocean racing championship for sailing yachts.

The championship would be based on a series of races in various parts of the world, to be completed in over a period of three years — from Jan. 1, 1969 to Jan. 1, 1972.

To be eligible for championship status, two mandatory and at least five optional races out of a total of 18 must be sailed, and one race must be in excess of 1,000 miles.

The two mandatory races are the St. Petersburg-Port Lauderdale race, an annual event which will start this year on Feb. 8, and the Miami-Jamaica race, a biennial contest beginning this year on March 17.

A committee appointed by SPYC Commodore Jack Clark and headed by club member Jack Powell selected the 18 races. Other committee members include James Michael, San Francisco; James McHugh, Chicago Yacht Club; B. Devreux, Barker III, Yachting magazine; and Dr. Bepe, Yacht Club Italiano, Genoa, Italy.

Eight races selected by the committee originate in the United States and four of them conclude in foreign waters. In addition to the St. Petersburg-Port Lauderdale and the Miami-Jamaica races, the other six are: Marblehead, Mass.-Halifax, Nova Scotia; Newport-Bermuda; Annapolis-Newport; San Pedro-Monolun; San Diego-Acapulco, and Chicago-Mackinac.

The foreign races involve England, France, Sweden, Australia, New Zealand, Argentina, Italy and China.

They include the Fastnet in England; Plymouth, England; La Rochelle, France; Skaw race in Sweden; Sydney-Hobart in Australia; Hobart-Auckland, New Zealand; China Sea race from Hong Kong to Manila; Buenos Aires-Rio de Janeiro; Genoa, Italy; and the Aegean Sailing Rally, Piraeus-Rhodes, Greece.

Number 18 is the 2,750 nautical miles Transatlantic Race, a biennial affair which is sailed from Newport, R.I., to Dublin, Light Vessel of Cork, Ireland, and begins this year on June 22.

Powell explained that while seven races are the minimum, more than the five optional and two mandatory may be sailed with the best seven counted.

Fleet positions will be the basis for point accumulations, he said. The boat hull and the owner, or charterer, must be the same for the three years of competition but rigging and rating may be varied.

Powell defended the two mandatory races being held in Florida by pointing out Florida sailors must go to Europe or the Pacific, or both, to complete the five optional races. Also, the two mandatory races can be sailed in one trip.

Wherever possible, Powell said, the committee tried to select races so that most yachtsmen had two or three races in more or less home waters.

The Florida sailor, who will campaign his 46-foot "Salty Tiger" in the international competition, said several owners have indicated they wanted to compete.

Powell said Bill Smith of New York, a yachtsman and a noted industrial designer, had created a special trophy that will go to the winning yacht in 1972. Money for the trophy will be raised in St. Petersburg.

The Deep South Is Ski Country

ATLANTA (UPI) — The ski bug has bitten thousands of residents of the deep South.

Atlanta, Birmingham, Jacksonville, Fla., and 10 other southern cities all have ski clubs with a total of 2,000 members.

The Atlantic Ski Club, whose members make up half the parent group — Southeastern Ski Clubs Association (SESCA) — is the second largest ski club in the nation.

Elevations near the Great Smoky Mountains in Tennessee and North Carolina supply the course and Mother Nature supplies the snow—or at least the temperatures low enough to freeze water thrown into the air by artificial snow machines.

The result: sometimes as much as 8 to 24 inches of snow on any of seven ski areas in eastern Tennessee and western North Carolina.

"We had 70 ski days last year — only 20 less than Vermont," a real estate dealer in Gatlinburg, Tenn., said.

The Gatlinburg resort, which with Cataloochee in Maggie Valley, N.C., first ventured to provide snow skiing in the South, in 1961, boasts a 4,900 foot long expert slope and "the highest vertical drop from the Atlantic Coast to Canada."

Beech Mountain, which claims to be "the Aspen of the East," has five chair lifts and a gondola for rides to six challenging slopes.

In the same area as Beech, around Boone, N.C., are three other resorts — Seven Devils, Round Ears and Blowing Rock — and Sapphire Valley, near Highlands, N.C., provides three slopes that can be reached in less than three hours from Atlanta.

Browne hit .238 with 10 home runs and 42 runs batted in last year at Oklahoma City.

'Toppers Must Stop ETSU To Keep Pace In OVC

Bowling Green, Ky. — Western Kentucky seeks to break the momentum of Eastern Tennessee's four-game win streak here Saturday night as the Hilltoppers try to keep pace in the ever-changing Ohio Valley Conference basketball race.

Following the invasion by the Buccaneers, the league's defending co-champs, the Hilltoppers battle Tennessee Tech Monday night. Tech is one of only two OVC teams to hang a loss on Western this season.

Western was knocked off the top of the OVC standings Monday night by an 85-77 overtime loss to an inspired and determined Eastern Kentucky quintet at Richmond. The Hilltoppers, 7-2 in league play and 14-7 overall, are in a second-place tie with Morehead, a half-game back of Murray State's 8-2 record.

Western dumped East Tennessee, 85-75, at Johnson City earlier this season, but the Bucs have recovered from a mid-year slump to put together two wins over Tech and a pair of non-league victories over Appalachian State and East Carolina.

East Tennessee boasts one of the nation's top backcourt scoring threats in 6-3 strongman Harley Swift, averaging 20.5 points per game. The Bucs also have a dead-eye shooter up front in 6-5 junior forward Mike Kretzer, averaging 18.4.

Tech has a whole bevy of capable shooters, headed by 6-4

Dear Abby

A 'Better Fit' Can Solve This Dilemma

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: There is an old saying, "The family that prays together, stays together." I wish they could say the same for the family that EATS together.

I've had my store-teeth for about two months, and it takes me twice as long to chew my food and get it down as it did when I had my own teeth. But nobody seems to realize it. They keep a steady conversation going at mealtime, and ask me questions, so I have to stop chewing and answer them. Well, before I know it, everybody else has finished eating and I'm about half-way thru.

Please put this in your column (but don't mention my name) so folks will be a little more patient with those of us with dentures. Thank you.

GRANDPA

DEAR GRANDPA: You don't need patience on the part of others. You need a better fit! Go back to the dentist who made your dentures and get the bite on him for an adjustment.

DEAR ABBY: We are a group of women who belong to a club. We each take turns hosting the club in our homes. The idea of this club is for us to have an enjoyable evening away from the kiddies. We all have families, and on the nights we entertain we either get a sitter in, or have our children in bed fast asleep.

Our problem: One of the girls in our club has a small child, who she purposely keeps up for this meeting. The child is darling, but a chatterbox. She monopolizes the conversation and is the center of attraction the entire time. She doesn't just make an appearance, she is allowed to stay ALL evening.

How can we tell this member without hurting her feelings that her child should not be included? SOME MEMBERS

DEAR MEMBERS: If she sees this, it might not be necessary to tell her anything. But in case she doesn't, one of you "gals" ought to tell her that children should be neither seen nor heard when mama entertains.

DEAR ABBY: Please help me before I lose my mind. I am 34 and Doug is 39. We have three children and a nice home, but I am BORED. Doug never wants to go anywhere. He's happy just staying at home. He never wants to have anyone in either. We have no friends. I have no family here, and neither has he.

I am a good housekeeper and a very good cook. [Even Doug says so.] I have plenty of work to do at home and don't need an outside job.

This boredom is driving me nuts. Doug says all he does is go to work and it's not driving HIM nuts.

Doug wasn't this way when I married him. He's also lost all his desire to make love to me, but it doesn't seem to bother him. Maybe he's ready to shrivel up and die, but I'm not. Help me. Believe it or not, I love the guy. BORED

DEAR BORED: If Doug wasn't "that way" when you married him, obviously something has happened to him. If you love the guy, get him to a doctor. If it's physical, he can be helped. If it's mental, he can also be helped—but it may take a little longer. Whatever you do, don't continue to wallow in self-pity, seethe with resentment, and vegetate with boredom.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "A LOVING, BUT WEARY SOUL." I can only repeat one of my favorite quotes from Mark Twain: "It takes a friend and enemy to hurt you to the quick. The enemy to malign you—and the 'friend' to get the news to you."

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 6970, Los Angeles, Cal., 90009 enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S NEW BOOKLET "WHAT TEEN-AGES WANT TO KNOW," SEND $1.50 TO ABBY, BOX 6970, L.A. ANGELES, CAL. 90009.

Clock is for the Bird's

BARROW-IN-FURNESS, England (UPI) — The residents of this community don't know what time it is because of thousands of starlings who have staked a claim on the town hall clock.

The starlings, who were driven away from the local shipyard, resettled on the hands of the clock. Whenever too many gather on one hand, their weight moves it. Town clerk A.M. Wolf published an official notice, warning that the clock was unreliable.

Backstairs At The White House

By MERRIMAN SMITH

UPI - White House Reporter

WASHINGTON UPI - Backstairs at the White House: Eight years as vice president during the Eisenhower Administration may not have given President Nixon full realization of how much strain the presidency would produce in personal friendships. He is beginning to find out now.

One of Nixon's closer personal pals for well over a decade has been a rather self-effacing cop in Florida of Cuban paragonage, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo. Rebozo is Nixon's next-door neighbor on Key Biscayne, Fla., and times he, a relatively frequent visitor at the White House.

Every relatively recent president has had his Rebozo or reasonable facsimile there of reasonable facsimile there of an utterly trustworthy personal friend outside government walls.

he could be trusted to hear or see virtually anything with no danger of the event or the words going any further.

Because of Rebozo's closeness to Nixon, particularly in Florida, if Bebe now so much as buys a full tank of gas for his Lincoln Continental, there are some who will connect this in some invidious way with the presidency. If Rebozo is present at Key Biscayne when Nixon is discussing affairs of state, certain someone shoot up for any slight signal of a situation which might lead to self-criticism of Nixon and or Rebozo.

The fact that Rebozo may have been privy to off-guard discus-ion of serious international problems should be viewed in context of what went before. Former President Lyndon B. Johnson often talked over serious world affairs with one of his closer Texas pals, Judge A. W. Moushand. The late President John F. Kennedy enjoyed the constant attendance of an old schoolmate and New York advertising man, L. K. "Lem" Billings.

The list goes back through history. History, however, does not seem to still current criticism. Rebozo now figures in a possible congressional investigation of the relationship of the Small Business Administration SBA to a Miami shopping center in which Nixon's friend has a big stake. Discussion of Rebozo and the shopping center often ignores the fact that financial arrangements with the government were made more than two years ago. Nixon, then a New York lawyer, was not in a position to throw much weight around SBA even if he had so desired.

Moonshiners Busy

WARSAW UPI - Alcohol consumption rose last year by eight per cent and a Polish newspaper said today much of it was moonshine. The paper, Gols Pracy, said police seized 30 illegal stills in Warsaw in 1968, almost twice as many as the year before.

Seeks Compensation

ACCRA, Ghana UPI - Ghana will seek compensation from the Israeli government for damage to a Ghana Airlines plane during Israel's commando raid on Beirut Airport, External Affairs Ministry sources said Thursday.

The VC10 jet, worth $3.6 million, had been chartered by Middle East Airlines but was not insured against war risks.

The airline refused to pay for damage to the plane on the grounds that Ghana was responsible for insurance.

TV CAMEOS: Rita Gam

Movie Star Rita Is TV's Old Pro, Now

THE PLAY was Chekhov's "The Three Sisters," at Tyrone Guthrie's Theater in Minneapolis, and one of the actors went up in his lines. Le, he blew them. Miss Rita Gam, playing sister Masha, dark, cool and beautiful, stepped in calmly and ad-libbed a little, or vamped "I'll be ready as the saying goes, and the actor got back onto the track.

When the curtain went down, noted director Guthrie hugged Miss Gam and cried "You got through it! By heaven, you're a professional!" This, after countless movies, TV shows and Broadway plays — and yet Rita treasures it. "I've been through all kinds of stages in acting," she says candidly. "I've been good, bad, good and bad again, as I developed, but when Mr. Guthrie called me a professional, I felt I had gotten somewhere."

Daytime video audiences are getting a chance to see the young-old pro these months on NBC's "Hidden Faces," newest of the soap operas, in which she plays Mimi Jaffe, a senator's wife who is painfully sweet and lovely. "I'm so noble that I'm starting to act that way in real life," says Rita. "And I think it's wearing my friends out."

MISS GAM parries her acting life objectively. "My life on the silver screen has been a succession of Berber, Mohawk and Hun princesses, or Roman and Elizabeth queens — but she has done three things of which she is proud: (1) the "Three Sisters" job, (2) Tennessee Williams' "Suddenly, Last Summer," she traveled South America, and (3) "The Heat," a film in which her work won her the Silver Bear award at Berlin's film festival in 1962.

Pittsburgh-born, Rita grew up in New York and had had a year at Columbia University before, just like that, she got an acting job in the play "A Day for No Reason." "I was young King David," she says. "At night, I'm not a boy. Maybe they wanted a sexy boy. She worked fairly steadily on Broadway after that, understudying Julie Harris in "Hush," and "I never became her replacement, though," she says. "Kin Stanley got the part. I was too busy flirting with the South American types who were in the play."

HER MOVIE career opened with a bang when she co-starred in "The Thief," the film with Ray Milland in which there was no dialogue, and one reason she got the part was a big speech in Life magazine about the art of leading young TV actresses (two others were Grace Kelly and Diana Lynn).

It was only after five movies that, she says, she decided to learn how to act. She took drama lessons at several schools, and then her career bounced up and down as she went through her working in Rita's column, "Hidden Faces," she says. "I was in 'The Thief' in Hollywood."

good-bad years. Gradually she made a solid actress of herself and just recently co-starred with Gig Young in "Girl in My Soup." "I don't worry as much any more," she says. "I'm more relaxed. More confident, perhaps."

PLAYS AND TV keep her busy now, but she'd like to make another picture. If a good one comes along. Meanwhile, divorced from Thomas Gunzburg (her first husband was director Sidney Lumet), she spends much time with her children, Kate, 12, and Mike, 10, doesn't look nearly old enough to have had them — and acts daily in the soap.

"I don't knock daytime TV," she says. "It entertains — and my theory is, anything is a communication, and we have to communicate, don't we?"

Empire Farm Opens Today Over In The Land Between The Lakes

GOLDEN POND, KENTUCKY February 10—Empire Farm, a unique "see and touch" educational farm within the Conservation Education Center of Land Between the Lakes, will open to the public Saturday, February 15, the Tennessee Valley Authority announced today.

Located on a rolling hillside overlooking Lake Barkley, this newest facility will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. Empire Farm is five miles east of Highway 453 on Mulberry Flat Road within the Conservation Education Center.

"Empire Farm was conceived as an educational farm to provide children and other visitors opportunities to see farm animals and observe and learn about growing crops," said John R. Paulk, Supervisor of the Conservation Education Center. "The knowledge gained here will provide an understanding into the relationships existing between products of the land and the tools, equipment, and techniques used to grow, process, and transport these products."

"Development of the farm is by no means complete," Paulk reported, "however, we feel that enough of the basic requirements of a typical farm are here to provide meaningful educational experiences. Empire Farm, like any other farm, will never be complete; it will continually be undergoing change and improvement."

BOATING

By JACK WOLSTON

NEW YORK (UPI)—It may never set the boating market afire, but a water-jet powered surfboard has proved a real attention-getter at this winter's boat shows.

The 11-foot aluminum board is designed, according to its manufacturer, to provide less work and more fun for surfers and offers considerable potential as a new device for water safety and rescue work.

Actually, it isn't necessary to have surf to operate this 65-pound board. It moves through any kind of waters, up to 10 miles per hour, with its water jet propulsion unit activated by a 6 1/2-horsepower motor.

The jet board, with a capacity of 400 pounds, has several safety applications, starting directly with the surfer, since a magnetic safety switch automatically stops the motor if the surfer is wiped out.

Since it has no propeller, the jet propulsion unit poses no blade hazard to the surfer himself or to fellow surfers or nearby swimmers. The urethane foam within the board provides considerable reserve buoyancy even if the board is accidentally punctured.

Lack of a propeller also means the jet board can be used in close proximity to swimmers in distress and can also reach them quickly from shore, two safety applications. If the user forgets to fill the four-hour running time, he can straddle the board and paddle it home like a conventional surfboard.

The board is manufactured by Jet Board Corp., Los Angeles.

What's the best way to get rid of sharks? Catch them and kill them, says Dr. Albert L. Tester, a University of Hawaii zoologist and shark expert.

Tester doesn't give much weight to claims by several scientists recently that they have had success repelling sharks by loud Beethoven music and underwater bubble curtains.

"Sharks, like anything else, become familiar with a situation," Tester said. "Any loud noise or effect will temporarily startle them, but once they realize there is no danger, they just ignore it."

Tester, who has been working on shark control problems in Hawaii, said the most successful method found so far is to "fish them down systematically."

Bow Hunters Attracted From Afar In LBL; Eagle Hunt Is Underway

"Land Between the Lakes entices bow hunters to travel farther from home than any other hunting area in the United States," states Sherrill Miller in the January issue of Kentucky Big Game Hunting Ground published by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. Mr. Miller's source of information is a survey recently conducted by the National Field Archery Association and Archery Magazine. The two primary reasons given for Land Between the Lakes' popularity with bow hunters are the large herd of fallow deer present in the area and the hospitality and socializing that takes place among these congenial hunters. Each year bow hunters gather around the campfire for fish and chicken "cookouts," "retelling stories about fallow bucks with moose-like racks, and occasionally a banjo and guitar appear for some good "foot-stomping" music. Each year more and more bow hunters participate in the hunt which is becoming an annual festive event.

Recent heavy rains and resulting high lake levels and rough water have done little to impinge fishing on Kentucky Lake and Lake Barkley. However, as of March 1 fishermen will not have to fight the "white caps" in order to find good bass and bluegill fishing. The three subponds—Energy Lake, Hooker Lake, and Bart's Lake—will open on March 1 for boat and bank fishing until September 30. Hemlock Lake in the Conservation Education Center will be open for bank fishing only during this period. Fishing and boating activity is restricted on these lakes during the period of October 1 to February 28 when they are used as waterfowl refuge areas. The four small lakes, varying in size from 90 to 370 acres, often provide fishermen with much calmer waters on windy days while the main lakes are rough and hazardous. Fish like the subponds, too, according to surveys made by TVA biologists who reported the population distribution and food supply in the small lakes to be well balanced. Limit catches were reported from the subponds last year, and indications point to even better fishing this year.

Each year birdwatchers from the surrounding area and neighboring states gather for an annual midwinter eagle count in Land Between the Lakes. This year's eagle survey is slated for February 15, and recent reports indicate the wintering population of bald and golden eagles in the lakes area may be higher than in preceding years. Experienced bird observers who are interested in participating in the eagle count should contact Dr. Clell Peterson, Murray, Kentucky (phone 753-3505).

Plans are under way to present the colorful history of the Land Between the Lakes area in a series of displays to be placed later this year in Center Station and in the Orientation Building at Empire Farm. TVA is interested in obtaining early hand tools and household implements, farm equipment, relics of the early Indian cultures and iron industry, old photographs, books, newspaper clippings, and other articles of historical or cultural interest which will help tell the story of Land Between the Lakes. Anyone who has such articles and would like to donate them for display at Center Station or Empire Farm, please contact John Paulk at the Land Between the Lakes headquarters in Golden Pond, Kentucky, or call 924-5602 (area code 502). All articles received will be well cared for and personally acknowledged.

Maintenance crews were unable to complete the required renovation of Center Station, the visitor reception facility within the Conservation Education Center, in time for the planned February 2 reopening. The opening date has been rescheduled for February 8; however, visitors are still invited to visit the Conservation Education Center and like the trails and observe the wildlife and the more than 200 species of birds identified in the area.

hulls," Alexander said. "Yachts operated in tropical waters usually need to be hauled out for bottom painting every six months, often more frequently."

Owens hopes to achieve two years' operation in Florida waters without need for bottom painting. In northern waters, where bottom fouling is less problematic, the company is looking for up to three years' operation before bottom painting becomes necessary.

NEW YORK (UPI)—From the ditty book:—A fleet of more than 25 yachts is expected to compete in the fifth biennial Miami to Montego Bay Yacht race which gets under way from the Florida city March 17. The 5-day, 811-mile race, a classic reach and run route from Florida through the Bahamas and down through the Windward Passage between Cuba and Hispaniola to Montego Bay, drew 17 entrants in 1967.

—Largest and most expensive powerboat at this year's National Boat Show in New York is Owens' new $104,500 fiberglass Concorde 47. The 47-foot yacht is five feet longer than any boat built previously by Owens. Diesel powered, the Concorde 47 has special fuel tanks with a total capacity of 650 gallons which provide for a cruising range of about 400 miles. The yacht sleeps 10 comfortably.

One of the big eye-openers at the New York show is the display of houseboats. They are a far cry from the old scow houseboats, mostly home-made, that usually were towed from place to place, frequently sprang leaks and often spent their final days resting dejectedly on a mud flat. Today's houseboat has a metal or fiberglass hull that gets up and planes over the surface powered by engines, inboard and outboard, up to 300 horsepower.

Ferrell Miller shows White Knights Ted, the dog that took first place in the shooting dog division of the West Kentucky Field Trial Club field trial last weekend.

Little Miss Lora Buchanan looks over the catch of fish hauled in by her father Noel Buchanan from Barkley Lake. Noel used artificial bait and caught everything that is pictured within a two and one-half hour period. The string of fifteen weighed from one and three-fourths pounds to four and three-fourths. This is pretty good proof that fishing is about as good in the winter as it is in the summer... that is, if you know where to go and how to fish.

IN REMEMBRANCE
In remembrance of our darling son Vernie Turner, who slipped away to be with Jesus, one year ago February 15, a precious one from us is gone, a voice we loved is still, a place is vacant in our home, that never can be filled.
Near a shady wall a rose once grew, budding, and blossomed in God's free light, watered and fed by the morning dew. Though claim of death has caused us to grieve, and made our courage faint, let us have faith and hope receive. That rose still grows beyond the wall.
Oh Lord I will press on with courage, though rugged the path may be Sustained and upheld by the promise, My grace is sufficient for thee.
His Mother,
Maida Turner ITP

For 56 years we journeyed on together. Children came to bless us. The love of friends sustained while we journeyed on together.
For 56 years we journeyed on together. We were never lonely, for an unseen friend walked by our side while we journeyed on together.
Someday we will start that journey again on a road that shall never end.

Human Egg Is Successfully Fertilized Outside The Body

LONDON (UPI) — Successful fertilization of a human egg outside a woman's body may have carried science a major step forward toward test tube birth, scientists experts said Friday.

The disclosure by three Cambridge scientists that they had taken a human egg and fertilized it with human sperm and produced the beginning of a fetus in experiments could hold future hope for some childless women, the experts said. The fetus was destroyed later.

The experts said the Cambridge fertilization method could not be used on a large scale for several years.

The experiment was carried out by Dr. Robert C. Edwards, Prof. Barry Baxendale and Patrick Steptoe.

Results were announced by London Independent Television Thursday night and detailed in the current issue of Nature Magazine, published today.

The experiment represented a major step toward treating some childless women. The magazine article outlined how a female egg could be removed from a woman, fertilized, then replaced in the womb.

Medical sources said the experiment could help thousands of women presently unable to have children.

The television report said the success of the experiment put scientists "in a position not only to replace the fertilized egg in the mother's body but to continue to develop the fertilized egg artificially and perhaps even produce a human baby without using the mother's body."

"Charm Schools" Homemaker Topic

"Charm Schools" was the main topic of discussion at the meeting of the Area Clothing and Textile Leaders of the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Homemakers groups meeting with Mrs. Catherine C. Thompson, Area Extension Agent Specializing in Clothing and Textiles, and Mrs. Dean Roper, Area Extension Agent Specializing in Youth Work, in the home of Mrs. Abe Thompson, Fulton, Kentucky.

Mrs. H. H. Brooks, LaCenter, Kentucky, presided at the meeting, and two charm schools were planned for the area. One March 7th, in Paducah in the Extension Assembly Rooms at the McCracken County Court House, was designed especially for adult women, and one March 8th, in Mayfield in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church was designed for the teenage girls and their mothers. These charm schools will be open for anyone interested in attending.

Those leaders assisting with the planning were Mrs. Eugene Hunter, Graves County; Mrs. Ira Brasher, McCracken County; Mrs. Bill Fenwick, Fulton County; Mrs. James McCullin, Ballard County; Mrs. Paul Castleberry, Weatherford, Hickman County; Mrs. Kenneth Rowland, Carlisle County; Mrs. Richard Armstrong, Calloway County; Mrs. Bill Rudy, Barlow, Kentucky.

During the Christmas holidays the Cornell family spent three weeks with her mother and father in Hawaii. This was the first time Mrs. Cornell had seen her family in five years.

Mrs. Cornell has six brothers and sisters living in Hawaii and one sister residing in New York. They were all in Hawaii for Christmas for a family reunion. Their father died when Mrs. Cornell was a small child.

Rev. and Mrs. Cornell said they like Murray and its friendly people, and they enjoy their association with the many churches and the students here.

Down the Garden Path

By Mrs. W. P. WILLIAMS

The February sunshine steeps your boughs and tints your buds and swells the leaves within. William Cullen Bryant.

It is always a delight when the big bulbs known as amaryllis appear in the stores. They arrive during late December or through February. Some of the later ones are just coming in and are huge bulbs.

These are horticulturally called Hippeastrum and there are many varieties aside from the one we are familiar with. The Lycoris or magic lily is a member of this family as is the Sprekelia which many of us have had in our gardens.

Years ago, the only amaryllis was an orange red, but the new ones come in a variety of shades of red, white and in stripes and I have just posted one that is white with only a fringe of light red around the upper petals.

These bulbs are potted with about one third of them out of the soil, which is a loose mixture of sand, peat moss, and good earth. When planting, soak the soil thoroughly and from then on water sparingly until growth is well started. Set the pot in a shallow dish or plate and water from the bottom, using warm water. The big strap shaped leaves will put in appearance first then at the side of the bulb the bud will appear. They are showy, rather spectacular blooms and some of the bulbs will have two bloom stalks one from each side.

One caution, leave the leaves, no matter how sprawly they get, until the bloom dies and the leaves begin to turn brown. The bulb, as in jonquils, gets strength for next year's bloom from these leaves.

Water sparingly during the long rest period and repeat next year adding a little fertilizer. The new bulbs, just being put out, do not need anything except good soil.

If you have a flower bed with a southern exposure, the bulbs may be set out in the ground when they are through blooming. The next spring they will bloom and will continue to do so for many years. Treated in this fashion, they will of course, bloom later in the year than house plants, but will make a beautiful display. I have planted one each year and now have about ten or twelve and since they are of many colors and are beautiful in late spring.

They are primarily house plants and many nurseries tell you they can not survive a severe winter. But in a fairly protected spot and slightly mulched in the winter, they will not only live but do extremely well.

So put some in pots for the early spring blooming and be searching for a good place to plant them later. Many of mine are gifts and the bright blossoms are a continual reminder of friends and members of the family who have been so thoughtful.

Budha Shook Up (UPI) — The famed meditating Buddha of Wat (Temple) Po may get shaken to pieces before the government finds somewhere else to park its buses. Vibration from the nearby bus terminal and from passing trucks has opened cracks in the gold leaf statue, causing an estimated $500,000 damage. The government hasn't been able to find a suitable site for a new bus terminal for the government-run transport system. It also says it has no money to pay for repairs, although the Buddha is a national treasure.
